FEDERAL COURT

October Term Convened in Covington Monday, Judge Cochran Presiding.

The October term of the United States Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky convened in Covington at 10:30 Monday morning, with Judge A. M. J. Cochran presiding.

City Solicitor Fred Schmitz and his assistant, John Richmond, were in court to look after the city's interests in the case of the South Covington & Cincinnati Street Railway Company, against the city of Covington, in which an injunction is sought to prevent the city disposing of a street car franchise for a period of twenty years. The court will be asking to pass on a decree that will be submitted pertaining to the granting of a perpetual injunction against the city. The car company claims to have a perpetual franchise.

When the common law docket was called, the C. & O. and L. & N. railroads pleaded guilty to violations of the safety appliance laws in a number of cases and were fined.

The case of Salie Kemp, administrator, against the C. & O. railroad, was continued until the next term of court on motion of Attorney Brent Spence for the plaintiff. The latter is the widow of C. & O. Detective Cleveland Kemp, who was killed in the railroad yards at Silver Grove.

The Rev. E. C. Jesse has just returned from Knoxville, Tenn., where he joined the Holston Conference of the M. E. church, South, and has accepted the pastorate of a church in Fries, Va. We understand that in making the change, Rev. Jesse not only secured a larger church, but also quite an increase in salary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jacobs returned home Sunday from a week's visit with Mrs. Thomas McDonald, of Manchester, O.

Mr. William Murphy, of this city, was in Mt. Olivet Monday attending the Robertson County Court day sales.

Miss Virgie Frank, of Latonia, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Fred Williams.

How To Avoid
The Motor Car That Bags
At the Knees

The automobile is curiously like the human body—an assembling of independent parts.

The man-machine is made up of muscle and bone, nerve and blood, water and fat, waste matter and brains.

As far as locomotion is concerned, neither machine is any stronger than its weakest link.

Mark the badly co-ordinated man. He looks O. K., but when there are stairs to climb or pace to be forced, he puffs and pants, and one concludes that his ruddy color came from a recent facial massage; that his bellows need mending, that his muscles aren't; that his "strength" is mere scenery and that his sound appearance is mostly tailor made.

Haven't you seen automobiles just like that, look "pretty" but won't take you from Here to There and Back?

The "Wonder Car" that the Square Deal Man sells won't 'bag at the knees,' and he can prove by the testimony of delighted owners that it will take you There and Back, not once, but many times, and that it is the lowest "After Cost" car on the market today. If you are a prospective car owner, 'phone us and we will be glad to take you for a trial spin in the Maxwell "25."

SAMUEL DERN

Committed Suicide At Denver, Cal., Saturday By Using Chloroform.

Word was received here from Denver, Col., Saturday by Mr. Edward Dern that his brother, Samuel Dern, aged 35, had been found dead in a rooming house in that city Saturday morning.

When the body was found a handkerchief saturated with chloroform was tied about his head, covering his nose. The coroner said that Dern killed himself.

Deceased is survived by two brothers, Messrs. William and Edward Dern, of this city.

CANDIDATE WITHDRAWS.

Mr. Ross Owens, candidate for Councilman from the Second Ward, has withdrawn from the race on account of business engagements.

Jack Porter was arrested at Winchester on a charge of having whisky in his possession and he certainly had the goods—233 half-pints being found. He was fined $104, which he paid.

MISS M. C. DOW
CALLED BY DEATH

Successful Business Woman Who Amassed Fortune Dies Just As Success Crowned Life.

HER NOTABLE CAREER IN ESTABLISHING STORES.

(Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, Monday, October 18.)

Death claimed Miss M. Cora Dow last night at 7 o'clock. She passed away peacefully, having fallen into a sleep a short time before the end came.

A short time before she fell asleep she talked with her mother, Mrs. Katherine Dow, and her physician, Dr. A. B. Thrasher, of the cooling end and said death would be a rest from the bitter suffering from bodily ills she had endured for almost twelve months.

There were only the attending nurse, Dr. Thrasher and his wife and the manager of her chain of drug stores present when she died.

Falling For Years.

While it has been known by her intimate friends for almost a year that she was stricken with a disease that was certainly robbing her body of its life, yet the fact has been kept from the public.

Miss Dow, as she was known in the business world, was 43 years old.

Miss Dow's life was full of business adventure. She started in the drug business as a girl, working as a clerk in her father's store. He died when she was still in her teens. The cares and management of his drug store fell upon her shoulders. She saw it as a task that would require all the efforts of a trained mind to manage, and she set about to get an education that she might carry on her father's business.

Studied Pharmacy. Going to the College of Pharmacy, she completed her course there with honors and at that time was the first woman pharmacist in the United States. Magazines and newspapers commented on this accomplishment.

The drug store was remodeled and very soon another larger one started on Race street just above Seventh. It was in this location she began a remarkable career.

Beginning of Success. The old shelves were soon replaced with the best money could buy. Old cases were remodeled and the fragrance of perfumes and flowers greeted the customers. Then began a success that culminated October 1, when she sold out the eleven stores she operated successfully for years.

No sooner had Miss Dow begun to prosper in the drug business than attempts were made to impede her progress. She was a firm believer in newspaper advertising. This brought down the wrath of the less enterprising druggists as well as the big pharmaceutical houses that supplied the druggists with their wares. When Miss Dow cut the price on established medicines efforts were made to stop her.

Wins Big Suit.

A suit was won by her in the courts establishing the precedent that retail druggist or any storekeeper could sell at his or her own price. This brought her into national prominence. As a business woman there are few in this city who ever accomplished the results Miss Dow did in her forty-eight years. It has been estimated that she amassed $1,000,000 through her own endeavors.

She was also a woman of a splendid musical education. This talent was cultivated even before she became a druggist. Almost to the end, even while suffering great pain, her interest in musical matters did not slacken.

Recently Sold Business.

When Miss Dow disposed of her chain of drug stores on October 1, she realized that death was but a matter of days with her and she issued a farewell note to her employees. They did not know, however, that it was really such. She wished them to stay with the new organization and said: "All I ask of each of you is that he do his work the best he can and give the new organization the same fidelity, effort and loyalty that have been mine for so many years. And from me, as long as I live, you will have an abiding affection. God bless every one of you."

Her Benediction. This was her benediction for those who helped her so largely to mount the ladder of financial success.

Manager Hopkins of the Dow Drug Company said last night the death of this woman would make no difference in the proposed consolidation of the stores with the Weatherhead Drug Company's stores.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Dow home on Elmhurst Place, East Walnut Hills, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Frank Nelson will deliver a sermon. Burial will be in Spring Grove.

It was one of the last requests of Miss Dow that the funeral be a simple one. This request was the only one she made and every effort is being made to carry out this desire.

The Dow drug stores will be closed this morning and remain closed until after the funeral Tuesday. Mr. Hopkins gave orders last night that all stores of these stores should close at midnight and remain closed until Tuesday night.

THREE WOMEN ELIGIBLE

Social Agencies To Recommend One For Position.

A Cincinnati woman and two from Cleveland are eligible for appointment as Superintendent of the Women's department of the State-City Free Employment Bureau at Cincinnati, according to word received in Cincinnati Thursday from Columbus. They are Margaret Maxon, of Cincinnati, who is first on the list, and Rachel S. Gallagher and Renee Darnsader, of Cleveland, who are second and third, respectively. The Council of Social Agencies met late Thursday to make a recommendation as to which of the three shall receive the appointment. The position pays $1,500 a year.—Times-Star.

Miss Maxon will be remembered as having had charge of the club work in the Maysville City Mission, and is now holding the position of Welfare Secretary in the Streitmann Biscuit Company, of Cincinnati.—[Editor.]

HAD TALKING MACHINE OUT-CLASSED.

Monday afternoon in Police Court, the wariest thing to perpetual motion that has ever been in this city gave an exhibition. A negro by the name of Joe Wilmore was before his honor, Judge John L. Whitaker, on the charge of the breach of the peace, it being said that he whipped his better half.

Almost as soon as Joseph walked up Court street he started to orate, and by the time the door of the courtroom was reached he was traveling at full speed. When placed on the witness stand the perpetual motion act was going fine and the only thing that could be heard was the story of how it happened, from Joe's viewpoint, he claiming to be the victim of a jealous wife who would not allow him to look at a female.

After hearing the concert, Judge Whitaker dismissed Joseph and told him to go his way. This did not give Joe a chance to show his powers of oratory and he started to make a speech of appreciation to the judge for his dismissal. Unable to stand the tumult any longer, the judge ordered that he be ejected from the seat of justice and this was done, ending the greatest gabfest ever held in this city.

SHOULD BE STOPPED.

During the last month the streets of this city have become a mecca for small girls and boys who approach the stranger and ask him for a nickel or a dime to get something. The majority of the time the approached one looses up and gives the urchin something. Once he does this, he is spotted as a soft one and is ever afterward hailed for another gift. These children are reaping a harvest from some of the soft marks of the vicinity and should be made to stop the practice, which is very annoying to those approached. The Juvenile Court should take the situation in hand and do something.

ELKS TO PRACTICE FOR MINSTREL TONIGHT.

The actors and actresses who are to be in the Elks' Minstrels, which will be given in this city in a few weeks, will hold their first practice this evening at the Elks' Home, at the corner of Court and Second streets. The minstrel promises to be one of the events of the season. Many of the most prominent men of the city are to take part. "Gov." Bowen, the world's famous minstrel man, will have charge of the show, which assures the success of the affair.

SOCCER FOOTBALL GAME CALLED OFF.

The soccer football game scheduled for Monday afternoon between the teams of the Adelphi and Athenaeum Literary Societies of the Maysville High School, was called off on account of bad weather. The rain of Monday made the field a mud puddle and put all chance for fast play in the background. The game will in all probability be played Wednesday afternoon at League Park.

MISS ALLEEN BERRY ENTERTAINS

Miss Alleen Berry was the hostess at a 6 o'clock dinner, assisted by her aunt, Mrs. E. L. Marshall and Mrs. Ed Whittington.

The diningroom and house were decorated with nasturtiums and cosmos. The lights were subdued, giving quite an artistic effect. Miss Berry is a charming hostess and her young friends are always delighted. There were twelve guests present.

MAYSVILLE BOYS

Making Good At School In Illinois As Editors and Football Players.

The Ledger is indebted to Messrs. Anderson and Louis O'Hare, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Hare, formerly of this city, for a copy of "Maroon and White," a breezy monthly published in the interest of the Alumni, Faculty and Student Body of Austin High School, a suburb of Chicago, Ill. The magazine is well gotten up, consisting of thirty or more pages, the cover being printed in black on maroon paper. Mr. Anderson O'Hare is editor-in-chief and Louis O'Hare one of the assistant editors.

On page six is an interesting article by Mr. Anderson O'Hare on "Where We Stand," which is a credit to the school and would do honor to many an older writer.

Besides this there is an interesting account of the recent football game between that school and their old enemy, the Lake High School, in which the Austin school came out victorious by the score of 28 to 0. In this game young Louis O'Hare featured as a tackle and showed great speed as a field runner.

The Ledger congratulates these young men, and wishes them every success in life. Mr. and Mrs. O'Hare have every reason to feel proud of their sons, and their many friends in Maysville join with them in this feeling.

THE WASHINGTON OPERA HOUSE.

The Washington Opera House gave its patrons a real show Monday evening when the great marine serial, "Neal of the Navy," was shown. The chapter of the serial shown was pronounced by those who saw the show as the best yet shown of this interesting series. Kate Price, the side-partner of the late John Bunny, the "king of comedians," was featured in the Vitagraph comedy, "The Revolt of Mr. Wilgus." The Selig animal picture, "The Heart of Paro," was also shown and pleased the children. One of the Paramounts travel series ended the show.

THE GEN THEATER.

Manager Mills treated the patrons of this pretty playhouse to a show of the first water Monday afternoon and evening. The Vitagraph feature in three acts entitled "My Lost One," in which Dorothy Kelly and William Dunn starred, was the headline. "Under the Fiddlers' Elm," a Lubin special feature in two parts, which featured Edgar Jones and Justina Huff, was also shown. The show was exceedingly good.

Forest Avenue and Second Street Addition To Be Opened To the Public Today.

This morning at 10 o'clock the new addition to the city of Maysville, known as the Forest Avenue and East Second Street Addition, was opened to the public. The site of the new addition is on the old ball park and is the last of the choice available lots to be put on sale in this city. The plot, which has been laid off in such a manner as to make it one of the most beautifully-arranged sections of the city, contains ninety lots that vary in size from 35x75 to 25x60 feet, all being situated on the streets that divide the plot.

West Bros. Realty Company, of Louisville, will have charge of the sale and from all indications the sale will be the biggest thing that has ever been staged in this city in the way of land deals. The sale will continue all day, during which time valuable prizes will be distributed free among those attending the sale.

The Second Annual Rural Church Institute and School of Principles and Methods for Rural Church and Bible School Workers will be held at North Middletown, Ky., for five days, beginning Monday, October 18, and closing Friday night, October 22.

the drift of public sentiment, which at this writing is decidedly away from Mr. Stanley and his associates on the State ticket.—Lexington Leader.

The last Congress was clearly under the domination of Woodrow Wilson. That is to say, it did the things that he wanted done and left undone the things that he frowned upon. But he had to have Bryan's help to pass some of the legislation. Bryan was then in the cabinet and his ear was receptive to the President's summons. Besides, every time he helped the President he was able to land some "deserving Democrat" at the crib. Now Bryan is out, and his closest friends in the government service are finding it convenient to "tender their resignations." The next Congress will not be strongly Democratic. Can Wilson control it without Bryan's help?

Down, down, down, goes the net balance in the general fund of the Federal Treasury. From $80,000,000 on July 1, the balance gradually dropped to $44,300,671 on September 23. That balance looks small compared with a balance of $126,734,155 on the corresponding date two years ago, when revenue laws and appropriations enacted by Republican administrations were still in force. The deficit for this fiscal year is already about $35,450,000, and growing day by day.

James J. Hill urges that we loan a billion or so to the belligerents of the Triple Entente. They are buying things from us, he argues, and if we do not lend them the money they can not pay us for our goods, our exports will fall off and our crops will decline in value. Then all this tremendous "war order" export business is not real business at all—oh, Mr. Hill! Any one can do business if he will lend his customers the money to pay their bills.

Ed. Morrow, the Republican candidate for Governor, is having some of the largest crowds ever known in Kentucky at political gatherings. Last Saturday night he spoke at Louisville and the building was crowded to overflowing, many being unable to gain admission. This is a good indication of how the "wind will blow" in November.

A British prize court has confiscated about $15,000,000 worth of American products which were consigned to neutral buyers and shipped before any blockade was proclaimed. At Washington it is said that this injury to American shippers constitutes "no present issue" for the administration. More "watchful waiting," we suppose.

After playing one rival ent-throat in Mexico again another for more than two years, the Wilson administration has recognized Carranza. The ostensible burden of the President's remarkable personal hostility to Huerta was that Huerta's rise to power was by means of murder. Well, how about Carranza's?

The warring Democratic factions in Maryland will soon hear their master's voice from the White House. State issues, personal ambitions are as nothing where Mr. Wilson rules. He is the whole thing in the Democracy, and he does not hesitate to let people know it.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

Made and Adopted at Lexington, Ky., June 3, 1915.

In order that the people of Kentucky might know just what they are voting for when they vote the Republican ticket this year, the Republican platform as adopted at Lexington on June 3, of this year:

The Republican party of Kentucky, in convention assembled, adopts the following platform:

1. We approve the policies of the National Republican party in providing for the defense of our coasts against foreign invasion and the protection of American industry against pauper labor of foreign countries, without imposing unnecessary or unjust burdens upon the consumer. We favor the nomination for the Presidency a candidate who is in accord with these policies and is abreast of the spirit of progress required by ever changing conditions. We condemn the inefficiency of the administration at Washington, its inadequate tariff law and its war tax in times of peace, which have resulted in the closing of factories, the stagnation of business and the enforced idleness of millions of workmen.

2. We demand the redistricting of Kentucky into legislative, senatorial, congressional and judicial districts, which shall give equal representation and equal voting power to every citizen of every district, in conformity with the plain requirements of the Constitution, and not, as at present, in flagrant violation thereof.

3. We demand the repeal of the present infamous primary law, framed for the purpose of preventing freedom of choice to the voter, and favor the enactment of a law which shall permit party nominations for judicial officers without regard to the party affiliations of the candidates, so that the judiciary may be chosen on non-partisan grounds, and the continuance in office of judicial public servants may be determined by no other qualification than that of fitness.

We favor amendments to State laws permitting and encouraging joint nominations of the same candidate by the different parties. We demand the repeal of the law providing for registration certificates imposed upon the State by the Democratic party for immoral political purposes, whereby voters in Kentucky have become negotiable instruments, passing by delivery.

4. We demand that the public schools of the State shall be kept entirely out of politics, and that the interests and welfare of the children shall have first consideration in all school matters. We call for better schools and schoolhouses, for longer school terms in the country and better pay for the teachers.

We also favor extending the aid of the State to its institutions for higher education.

5. There should be complete publicity concerning the expenditure of money for political campaigns, and a law should be passed for the accounting by candidates and campaign managers of all sums of money collected for political purposes.

6. We demand the enactment of a law providing for bi-partisan control of the penal and charitable institutions and for abolition of convict labor, and we endorse the constitutional amendment providing for convict labor on the public roads and highways, insofar as the same may be done without injury to free or organized labor.

7. Realizing the influence of good roads on the economical, educational, social and religious development of the State, we pledge ourselves that that present law, introduced by a Republican, authorizing State aid, shall be carried out, and the building of permanent highways throughout the State by a system guaranteeing to the people an honest expenditure of their money shall be encouraged.

8. We favor further legislation for the protection of labor from unnecessary bodily injury, and we favor the enactment of a fair and equitable workmen's compensation law.

9. We favor giving to the Railroad Commission power to regulate public utilities of the state.

10. We favor the passage of laws which shall make effective the constitutional provision against the issuance of free passage to officials and their families.

11. We oppose double taxation, and favor a thorough revision of the tax laws which shall equitably distribute the burdens of taxation, reduce the rate, and not only retain the capital now invested, but invite the investment of other capital in the State. We favor the adoption by the people of the constitutional amendment enlarging the power of the General Assembly on the matter of taxation, and when such additional law is passed to make it effective only when submitted to and approved by the majority of the people who vote upon the same. We favor such regulation by law as will consolidate assessment and collection of taxes, so that the cost of collection may be materially reduced.

12.—We condemn the enactment by the Democratic party of a large number of obnoxious laws, the creation of useless and expensive offices and commissions, and the wasteful and extravagant expenditure of money, and we promise, if given power, to repeal all such laws, to abolish superfluous offices and reduce the most of administration to the least possible point consistent with an economical and efficient system of government.

13. Realizing the importance to the State of the prosperity of the farmers, we heartily approve of their legal efforts to secure better prices for the products of their farms, and pledge ourselves to assist them in all legal ways.

14. For economic, as well as humane reasons, we recommend that the State of Kentucky undertake to supplement and later to continue the work of the United States Public Health Service for the prevention of blindness, from trachoma, a communicable and painful disease of the eye, from which the last census reports show that 22,000 persons are suffering in a single section of the State.

15. We call attention to the vast resources of our State as yet undeveloped, and invite capital and labor into the State to develop such resources.

16. Expressly reserving the right of all Republicans to vote upon the question of woman's suffrage as they see fit, we favor the adoption by the next General Assembly of a resolution submitting this question to the people for decision at the election of November, 1917.

17. The Republican party in Kentucky is responsible and deserves the credit of the County Unit Law. In 1907 we declared definitely for the Local Option Law, with the county as the governing unit. In 1911 we again declared for the County Unit Law in accordance with the Constitution.

We now declare our continued adherence to the County Unit Law and we hereby endorse the present County Unit Law in Kentucky and pledge ourselves to its strict and rigid enforcement, and we favor the adoption of such amendments thereto as may be necessary to make it effective beyond question.

BRITISH LOSSES

Thousands of English Soldiers Killed At the Dardanelles—French Also Suffer.

LONDON, October 15.—The total of British casualties at the Dardanelles up to October 9, according to official figures given out here, today was 96,899.

Of this total the number of men killed was 18,957, of which 1,185 were officers.

Casualties of the Australian contingents were 29,121.

Announcement of the great losses of the British forces at the Dardanelles, following the sensational speech in the House of Lords last night by Lord Milner, who is said to have characterized the expedition as hopeless. He suggested the withdrawal of the troops from the Gallipoli peninsula and their transfer to some other front.

Lord Lansdowne responded for the government that it was impossible to give an undertaking that the troops would continue in the Dardanelles operations or would be withdrawn.

The figures given out today do not tell the full story of what it has cost the allies to attempt to force the Dardanelles. In addition to the British casualties, or the losses of the French, concerning which no reliable information is available, the British total bears out dispatches from correspondents on this front who have described the loss of life as frightful. In some instances, according to these advices, trenches and gun emplacements have been choked with the dead. The Turkish losses also have been described as very heavy.

RECORD OF THE PAST

No Strouger Evidence Can Be Had in Mayville

Look well to their record. What they have done many times in years gone by is the best guarantee of future results. Anyone with a bad back; any reader suffering from urinary troubles, from kidney ills, should find comforting words in the following statement.

Mrs. John Burns, Maysville, says: "I was subject to severe spells of backache and kidney trouble. They came on every three or six months and at times I was confined to bed and almost helpless. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me quick benefit. Since then when I have noticed slight return attacks of backache, I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have never failed to quickly check the trouble."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Burns said: "The statement I gave before praising Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. I know that this medicine acts as represented." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burns has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HERITAGE FORTUNE.

Mele, O.—The other day H. Earl was a hard-working individual in very moderate financial circumstances. Now he is the same hard-working individual, but a multimillionaire. It happened over night, as it were, and through the old familiar channel—the death of a rich uncle across the sea.

To be exact, Earl's heritage is $11,000,000. He is night master of Transportation for the Williams-Overland Company. He and his wife live in a modest home at 436 South Sixth street.

The dead uncle was Patrick Earl, for whom the Toledo man was named. He made millions as a manufacturer in Germany, where he removed from his native Ireland when a young man.

Soon as the war is over, Earl, "I expect to go to Italy to lay claim to the property. I realize that many things can happen during the war."

Lexington, Ky.—The return of the women to the Republican ranks has stimulated party enthusiasm. Revised registration figures that nearly every Bull Moose in the G. O. P. camp there were Progressive.

Morrow, Republican governor, has invaded Lexington in Marshall county, where he will be welcomed. Mr. Morrow is the distinguished speaker at the discussion, which he said, other nominees of the Democratic ticket were avoided. It was possible for the Democratic leaders, said Mr. Morrow, to lead the people to the liquor question. They ever, hoodwink the voters at length from the speeches of Governor McDermott. Mr. Morrow's speech created the most extraordinary enthusiasm. It was so tactfully delivered that the partisan Democrat could not find offense at what he said, and at the close of the meeting he was given a rousing ovation which resembled some of the best of the party.

MORROW TELLS HOW STANLEY CHANGED

Condemned the State Administration When He Aspired To Be United States Senator, But Praises Party's Record Now.

REPUBLICAN GIVEN OVATION IN CHRISTIAN.

Hopkinsville, Ky., October 15.—A. O. Stanley, Democratic nominee for Governor, was accused of inconsistency on every issue of importance in the present campaign by Edwin P. Morrow, the Republican nominee, in an address to a large and enthusiastic audience in the Union Tabernacle here yesterday afternoon.

"Morrow Day" was observed literally in Hopkinsville in honor of the visit of the head of the Republican State ticket and business was practically at a standstill from the time of Mr. Morrow's arrival shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning, until he left the city late in the afternoon.

Mr. Morrow was met at the station by a committee of prominent Christian county Republicans and by a crowd of several hundred men and women. A parade was formed and the nominee was escorted to his headquarters at the Hotel Latham. The procession was halted at the principal corners on the downtown squares while Mr. Morrow shook hands with admirers.

Come From Other Counties.
Republican leaders from a number of nearby counties called on Mr. Morrow at his headquarters and early in the afternoon they escorted him to the scene of the rally. The big tabernacle was decorated with flags and bunting. It has a seating capacity of nearly 5,000, and practically every seat was taken long before the meeting was opened.

In speaking of the inconsistency of Mr. Stanley in regard to the various issues of the campaign, Mr. Morrow said that he had never seen or heard of anything more ridiculous than the Democratic nominee's various flip-flops on various issues in the present campaign.

"Nothing more ridiculous has ever occurred in the history of Kentucky politics than the inconsistency between Mr. Stanley's statements and attitudes when he was seeking the nomination of his party and now, after he has become his party's nominee," said Mr. Morrow. "As a candidate for United States Senator he unmercifully assailed the Kentucky Legislature as being graft-ridden and controlled by the lobbyists, and he said in every speech he made that the only good motion made during that entire session was the motion for final adjournment."

"Now the same Stanley calls this same Legislature the keepers of covenants with the people. Henry Watterson calls the Legislature the 'shack that graft built,' and Stanley approves this utterance by reference to it in his public speeches. In spite of this Stanley now endorses an administration which permitted the erection of this same 'shack that graft built.'"

Stanley Changes Tune.
"Four months ago Stanley was going up and down the State of Kentucky referring to deputy fire marshals as 'little fire-putters-out,' and saying of them that they had never even put out a bonfire or caught a lightning bug. Today these deputy marshals are Stanley's 'fire-putters-out,' and he seeks to justify them and their existence by saying that they are paid for by the insurance companies. He leaves the plain inference that it is perfectly legal to squander the money of the fire insurance companies."

"Furthermore, it is generally understood throughout Kentucky that when Mr. Bosworth withdrew as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial honors, Mr. Stanley's managers agreed to perpetuate in public office, Clifford Bosworth, Fire Marshal of Kentucky."

"Stanley, in speaking of the public debt and of the extravagances of the present Democratic administration in an address at Bedford, Ky., in July, said: 'Now did you know that those fellows at Frankfort have spent nearly $3,000,000 more money than they had a right to spend. For they only had a right to spend what the Legislature says they should and if they spent only that much they would not be in debt. Nobody goes in debt unless he spends more than he has and flows in Frankfort couldn't be in debt if they had not spent more money than was appropriated by the Legislature.' Now this same Stanley approves of the Legislature he then condemned, indorses the same administration he then denounced, and to make inconsistency even more ridiculous, he asserts that by January 1, 1916, the public debt will only amount to about $1,000,000."

WONDERFUL GROWTH

Of Automobile Industry in the United States—A Business That Is Here To Stay.

Ever since the automobile industry became one of the leading factors in the commercial world, predictions have been made that a reaction would take place. Those prognosticators who had it all figured out in 1914 or 1915 were as near to the truth as the positive individual who said the war could not last after June.

According to John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland Company, the stability of the industry is greater today than at any time since its inception.

"Any suggestions that the growth of the automobile business is only temporary," says Mr. Willys, "is not taken seriously by sane thinking people who have watched its growth and development during the last fifteen years. Twice during that time it has passed through national panics without even faltering and is perhaps the only big industry that has never received a serious setback."

"The demand for cars is greater today than ever before in the history of the business. This year the Overland plant will produce approximately 150,000 cars, which is more than double the output of last season. Although we are shipping on an average of 500 cars a day, the factory finds it necessary to work overtime in order to keep pace with the orders that are pouring in."

"The big price reductions alone have enabled thousands of people to invest in motor cars who heretofore considered them beyond their means. The ease with which the modern car is operated probably accounts for the great numbers that are now being sold to women."

"Instead of a luxury only indulged in by people of wealth, the automobile has developed into a practical necessity. This is particularly true in the vast farming sections of the country. Statistics show that the farmers are the largest purchasers of motor cars, yet they are the last people on earth to spend money foolishly. They do not invest in a car merely for the pleasure that it affords them. On the contrary, they consider the pleasure of it last. The average farmer looks upon the automobile as a time and money saver that will permit him to accomplish more work in less time than a team of horses."

"In the cities the motor car has become almost indispensable to doctors and professional men. It enables them to make more calls in a day than they could in a week if they had to depend on a horse or trolley car as a means of transportation. Salesmen, collectors and in fact, all outdoor business men are using the motor car to facilitate their work."

"Every city and town in the country can boast of its quota of cars, but the present owners constitute only a small proportion of the possible purchasers. This is evidenced by the fact that dealers are continually oversold, no matter how large their allotments from the factory."

PARK THEM ELSEWHERE.
Saturday, quite a bit of disturbance was raised on Second street, due to the lack of space for traffic in the street. The parking of autos along the street was the cause of the congestion. Second street is about thirty feet wide and with the car track and an auto parked on each side a wheelbarrow can hardly navigate. The city officials should take the situation in hand and make the auto owners move their machines from this the principal and narrowest street of the city. Upper Market street affords a fine location for the parking of machines, and should be used as such. If this is not done a serious accident will happen in the congested district and the proper authorities will regret that they did not take the situation in hand.

Woods, by the remaining witness and the codicil by the attesting witness, John L. Whitaker, and James Mackey, was admitted to probate as the last testament and codicil of Arthur J. Donovan.
